See you in Leipzig!
Welcome
The Chair for European Law, Public International Law and Public Law is glad to announce that the University of Leipzig will host its first session of the International Summer School on Human Rights Protection under the ECHR in summer 2019. This Summer School combines the academic expertise of an alma mater which is both rich in tradition while at the same time being a modern, forward-thinking institution with its unique location in a vibrant city.

It welcomes students and professionals from all over the world to analyse and discuss current developments and recent judicial decisions in order to impart a profound knowledge on the protection of human rights under the application of the European Convention on Human Rights. Particular focus will be put on procedural and practice-oriented questions. The workshops will cover a wide range of topics, from Terrorism, Slavery, Children’s Rights, War Crimes, Judicial Independence, the Freedom of Religion, Data Protection Rights, and “Push backs” at EU external borders. Please find all the courses in the schedule on the following pages.

Last but not least, you’ll be able to explore one of Germany’s most beloved cities for students. It’s your turn to find out more about the fascination of this city while spending an unforgettable week by learning and living in it.

We’re looking forward to welcoming you at Leipzig in summer!

Course Venue
Leipzig is a place where tradition rubs shoulders with zeitgeist. With a history going back over 1,000 years, this Saxon metropolis has earned more than a few claims to fame - as a city of music, of commerce, as the site of the Peaceful Revolution, as Little Paris, and the Venice of the North. Moreover, Leipzig is one of Germany’s most popular cities among students - and has been for a long time. Leipzig University has enriched the intellectual and cultural life of the city of Leipzig for six centuries. Founded in 1409 it is the second oldest university in Germany with uninterrupted teaching and research programmes. Numerous personalities of worldwide renown such as Gotthold Ephraim Lessing and Johann Wolfgang von Goethe have taught or studied here, with important sources of inspiration for the development of the sciences repeatedly originating from Leipzig. As the State University of Saxony, it has made an important contribution to the development of the region. The University has gained a national and international reputation thanks to its wide range of subjects and particular emphasis on the Humanities, Natural Sciences and Life Sciences.

The Summer School courses will take place in one of the most outstanding buildings of the city: the Old Stock Exchange. It was built in the 17th century in early Baroque style to serve as a prestigious gathering place for merchants. You’ll find it at the end of the Nauhausgasse, a plaza right in the city centre.
